

Congratulations! You have found the very website where the latest most advanced Youthful and Ageless™ and Anti-Aging information on a number of health-related issues is offered so that you might lead a more youthful, beautiful and healthy life.

Youthful and Ageless™ is dedicated to providing you with solid, practical, science-based data on three critical areas that concern all of us when it comes to living a healthy, youthful, fully-realized life.

We are committed to give you the latest research and development in anti-aging technologies, products and services , the more recent and effective developments in cancer research, and also the latest breakthroughs in what has become an increasingly important part of living a happy, healthy, purposeful and satisfying life– the science of the mind and neuroscience.

We are dedicated to support academic research in all three intertwined fields, without which life cannot exist, and present you those gracious companies and sponsors of research that make it possible for Research Institutes, as well as Charities, to keep us moving forward and living a fuller life free of diseases.

It is important to be kind to mankind!

And, since everyone likes a good movie, we thought you would be interested in learning about films that are based on true stories in these fields. After all, everything a person needs to know in order to be happy, healthy and look 30 years younger can be found on this ONE website for the very first time ever, even movies about them! And, of course we know that we all want to look like movie stars, we thought we can also learn a bit of their secrets through these pages.

Most importantly however we salute the Entertainment Industry for caring about our health and well being by keeping us informed through true stories about life events that can happen to anyone, and as such, it teaches us how to cope, or even maybe turn a difficult event around.

Or show us the tremendous dedication and work that goes into a drug discovery as in the movie Living Proof with Harry Connick Jr. Or the Pixar film, Inside Out, which teaches kids about the principles of neuroscience, which we find one of the MOST important factors in the 21st Century.

And, let's not forget Gifted Hands the tremendously inspirational story of physician and current presidential candidate Dr. Ben Carson, played in the movie by Cuba Gooding Jr. Youthful & Ageless <sup>TM</sup> Bringing Information to Billions <sup>TM</sup> is also referred to as An Honorable Cause.

This is the ultimate website of all websites in order for you to fulfill your God given fullest potential while you also stay younger longer! You will hear us on television, radio, airplanes, airports and read about us in magazines.

We give you the peace of mind that comes with the power of knowledge and using the vast potential of the human mind. We keep you informed so that you can grow stronger and healthier with every breath. Enjoy the site and the knowledge it shares! We are a one-stop shop! We did it for you and we handpicked it with love.
